

SWISS MAGIC MASTERS 2023

CEDH AND DUEL COMMANDER

PROXY CARDS

We understand that cEDH and Duel Commander decks require a significant financial investment, often prohibitive for players. Some cards are so expensive that it makes many players uncomfortable to physically play with their authentic cards.

Our goal is to provide the best play experience for the greatest number of players, while maintaining the values of Aareboge and Wizards of the Coast.

Gold bordered cards and player created proxy cards are allowed (only for cEDH and Duel Commander!) and must be listed as such in the deck list (see below for definitions of what a proxy card is). If you use any proxy cards, you must use either basic lands of a type your deck can not play, or a substitute card (provided in boosters of editions that contain double-faced cards). The English card name must be clearly written on the card with a sharpie. The card must be sleeved the same way as your regular cards (e.g. the same inner sleeves).

You are required to bring a printout of the card in English for each of your proxy cards and make that print available to any opponent who sees your playtest card. This is to avoid confusion about the functioning of said card while avoiding unnecessary judge calls for oracle text.

Swiss Magic Masters does not set a hard limit on the number of playtest cards, but we encourage players to play as few of them as possible.

Proxy vs Counterfeit Cards

The WPN Terms and Conditions distinguish three cases:

- Proxy Cards are issued by judges to replace a card that has become damaged during the tournament.
- Playtest Cards are what people usually understand as proxies, created by players to stand in for a card they do not own.
- Counterfeit Cards are unauthorised reproductions of authentic Wizards cards. Counterfeit cards are strictly prohibited by Wizards.

In the WPN terminology, Swiss Magic Masters allows you to play “playtest cards” in the cEDH and Duel Commander tournaments (only in those tournaments, not in the other tournaments!).

Counterfeit cards are not allowed in any tournaments. The inclusion of any such cards in your deck will result in immediate disqualification. We do not support the production of illegitimate cards.
